BEFORE BREAKFAST. Secretary D. B. Atherion, of the Board of Trade, leaves today for New York and Philadelphia. At the former place he expects to complete arrangements for the removal of a silk mill to this city and at Philadelphia he will have a conference with the owners of a carpet mill that may be removed to Scranton.

The current number of the Postal Record published at Washington, D. C., has this to say about Colonel E. H. Ripple, Scranton's new postmaster: Few, indeed, if any, Scrantonians, enjoy greater popularity than Scranton's new postmaster, and it will doubtless be conceded that he is in every way fitted to give a most satisfactory administration of his important office.

Colonel Ripple was born in Mauch Chunk, Pa., Feb. 14, 1842. At the age of 15 his parents moved to this city locating on the West Side, then the borough of Hyde Park. He attended the public schools and afterward graduated from Wyoming Seminary and Eastman's Commercial college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In 1862 and again in 1863 he went out at the call for "emergency men" to repel the invasion of the state, and in March, 1864, he enlisted in the Thirty-second regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. July 2, of that year, he was captured by the rebels, at Charleston, S. C., and for three months at Andersonville and five at Florence, he suffered all the horrors of the Southern prison pens. Once he escaped, but was tracked by bloodhounds, and although he fought hard for his liberty was recaptured and from that time until the close of the war he underwent even worse tortures than he was subjected to before.

Among the positions of prominence that he has filled or is filling might be mentioned colonel of the Thirtieth regiment, common councilman, treasurer of Lackawanna county, mayor, member of the board of control, president of the board of charities, member of the park commission and member of the state commission on soldiers' orphans' schools and commissary-general of the state. He is a foremost member of the Grand Army of the Republic, prominent in Masonic circles and a trustee of Grace Reformed Episcopal church. He is a member of the firm of William Connor & Co., coal operators, and largely interested in many of Scranton's leading industries.

Many people would be willing to sacrifice an afternoon now and then for the satisfaction of giving pleasure to others. If he happened to think of it, but perhaps the thought does not occur to him very frequently, but that some find much delight in so doing is illustrated not a few times each year at the Home for the Friendless. Last Saturday, for instance, the family was given a delightful surprise by Mrs. R. E. Williams and Miss Williams, who, perhaps, contributed the most pleasing entertainment, through the medium of a graphophone, that the old ladies and children have known for many a day. Indeed, they were all nearly beside themselves with what to them was an utter novelty, and it was a joy to the kind visitors and the maids to witness the unaffected appreciation of the amusement. Mrs. Williams also furnished refreshments to the audience and the inmates of the Home will long remember the visit of herself and daughter.

A Scranton woman went to a fortune teller on Saturday to find out the whereabouts of her pocketbook, which disappeared from her pocket as she did it. It down in a street car or on a counter, or drop it on the curbstone that morning in a shopping tour. The fortune teller advised her to look for it. It was taken while she was in a crowd at the corner of Penn avenue, waiting for a car, and that the thief was a man with a wig and a cast in one eye. So all men wearing a wig and an off eye will do well to go out of town for a few days.

Hall Caine's new book, "The Christian," promises to be the great book of the year. It contains many interesting people with queer names and queer features, but, undoubtedly as good as "The Maudsley."

Common soda is far better for mosquito bites than camphor, ammonia or other remedies as it counteracts the poison and affords permanent relief. This advice is given in an interesting article in the fact that more mosquitoes seem to infest this city now than any time since the court house lawn was a pond.

Scranton men who have wives and daughters abroad should cable them regarding a limit to the spoils of foreign lands which their money procures to bring home, or the new customs bills may be of an extent to preclude another trip across seas. A pretty girl who had to pay $1000 in order to get away with the diamonds she had purchased, no doubt immediately performed a sum in mental arithmetic in which prices of home dealers as compared with those abroad were pathetically considered, together with the amount of the duties. It is likely to be very embarrassing to the average woman subscriber if the order concerning the oath to be taken of apparel worn out of the country is issued. She will feel averse to swearing to the possession of a very meagre wardrobe, and she will dislike exceedingly to forego the coveted experience of buying a large supply of clothing in Paris.

VENTURED TOO FAR. Michael Dremmis, of the North End, Drowned in Lake Poynelle—Others Had Narrow Escapes.

Michael Dremmis, of the North End, was drowned Saturday in Lake Poynelle while attending the excursion of the lodge of American True Iovrites to that resort. Dremmis with friends went in bathing in the afternoon. He ventured too far into the lake and as he could not swim he sank in the deep water. Dremmis' plight was discovered only too late. Michael Daekwell, who was upon the shore, made for Dremmis who was calling for help. Daekwell, in his effort to save Dremmis, was himself nearly drowned. He remained under the water too long and rapidly became powerless to help himself, when young Howell Gabriel, of the North End, rescued him. Daekwell, in his frenzy, grappled with young Gabriel and it was necessary for two other men who stood upon the shore to go into the water and pull out the two men.

The exciting scenes following so quickly upon the other created intense confusion among the excursionists. The body of Dremmis was recovered a half hour later. The remains were placed in a boat house and at 5:30 o'clock were brought to this city. Undertaker Regan has charge of the funeral.

While the body was in the boat house Justice of the Peace F. H. Page, of Poynelle, empaneled a jury. The verdict was "death from accidental drowning."

The remains of Dremmis were taken to Pittston yesterday at which place the funeral will occur this afternoon. 250 XX White Envelopes for 17c. at So. Store, 223 Lacka. ave.

HARRY'S FRIENDS SAVED HIM HERE

They Would Not Allow Delegates Unfavorable to Him to Be Chosen.

PLAN THAT HAS BEEN PERFECTED

Intention of the Anti-Harry Men to Introduce a Resolution at the Democratic State Convention Asking for His Resignation as National Committeeman—H. T. Koehler Was Not Elected in the Second District—Result in First District.

Delegates to the Democratic state convention were elected Saturday at conventions held in the First and Second Legislative districts. An effort was made to have delegates elected who would be unfavorable to William F. Harry, ex-national chairman and at present the Pennsylvania member of the Democratic national committee, but it was unsuccessful. City Treasurer C. G. Boland was the leader of the fight against Harry. There are many Democrats in this state, and Mr. Boland is one of them, who believe that Mr. Harry's attitude toward Candidate Bryan one year ago has placed him outside of the pale of recognition in the county of the party. They clamored for his resignation from the national committee then but it was not forthcoming and they have since been laying plans to force him to resign.

It was decided to have the Democratic state convention which meets in Reading August 31, pass a resolution calling upon Mr. Harry to resign his position as Pennsylvania's national committeeman and to ensure the passage of this resolution the delegates to the convention went quietly to work to secure the election of delegates who would be favorable to their plan. C. G. Boland was interested in the matter in this city, but up to date he has been anything but successful. Harry knew the plan, the delegates and requested Judge P. P. Smith and other warm friends of his heretobfore to interest themselves in his behalf to the extent of preventing Lackawanna from giving him a political black eye. The convention of the Third district was held last Tuesday at Priceburg and Miles J. McAndrew of Archbald, Timothy Holmes of Simpson and M. F. Fadden of Priceburg were chosen. They will not vote for the anti-Harry resolution.

SECOND DISTRICT CONVENTION.

In the Second district a strong effort was made to secure anti-Harry delegates but when it was discovered on Saturday, an hour before the convention met, that the election of R. J. Beamish, D. J. Reedy and T. P. Duffy was a foregone conclusion, Mr. Boland endeavored to secure from them a pledge that they would support the anti-Harry resolution. They refused to so pledge themselves and on the contrary, it is said, assured Mr. Boland that they would vote as recorded against any such resolution. The defeat of H. T. Koehler for state delegate was a sad blow to him and will unquestionably be followed by consequences. Mr. Koehler was his party's candidate in the legislature in the Second district last fall and was defeated by the largest majority ever recorded against a Democratic candidate in that district. His friends savagely charged after the election, that he had been slaughtered by his professed friends and in proof of this pointed to the immense vote Hon. A. T. Connell received in many Democratic strongholds. They put a notch in their reckoning stick and prepared to wait for the time when they could say "Remember Koehler and make it mean something. When the selection of delegates to represent the Second district was first spoken of it was suggested that as Mr. Koehler had born the brunt of last fall's battle it would be but justice to name him as one of the state delegates for the district. He approved of the idea and at Saturday's convention in the court house he was placed in nomination. Four votes were cast for him. His name was then withdrawn and an unknown delegate that its use had not been authorized.

OFFICERS OF CONVENTION.

Attorney T. P. Duffy, chairman of the district standing committee, presided at the convention to order and Attorney M. J. Walsh and Dennis Roche were named as secretaries. The gentlemen named above were chosen delegates and T. J. Coyne, John J. Murphy and John J. Shea, alternates. The following resolutions were adopted: Be it resolved by the Democrats of the Second Legislative district of Lackawanna county, in convention assembled, that we invite the attention of the voters of the district to the following declaration of principles: We reaffirm our faith and adherence to the principles of Democracy as defined in the national platform of the Democratic party, adopted at Chicago in July, 1896. We denounce the policy of the Republican party, which fosters trusts and monopolies. We denounce the reckless and extravagant of the recent Republican legislature of this state. We invite the attention of the voters, without regard to political affiliations, in the election the coming fall.

PLATFORM ENDORSED.

The Democrats of the First representative district of Lackawanna county, in convention assembled on the 14th day of August, 1897, rejoice again in the fact that the grand old platform of Jefferson and Jackson stand today as in the past—"The party of the people" under the magnetic leadership of William J. Bryan. It stands for the people's interest and against all kinds of syndicates, monopolies and trusts, which are constantly increasing under the protection given by the Republican party. Resolved, That we unqualifiedly endorse the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Chicago July 8, 1896 and upon which our great patriotic leaders, Bryan and Sewall, received over six million votes of the freemen of this country. Resolved, That we denounce the extravagant methods and measures adopted by the Republican legislature of Pennsylvania in 1897 and which we earnestly call the attention of all voters of the First representative district, so that in the coming elections they may repudiate all such actions, which are only tending to further burden the already overtaxed people of this commonwealth.

POLITICAL JOTTINGS.

Attorney George S. Horn has announced that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for district attorney this fall which practically leaves Hon. T. J. Duggan alone in the field. It would not be at all surprising if a dark horse was trotted out on the eve of the convention to try and sweep the nomination from Mr. Duggan and into the hands of a more systematic canvasser of the county. Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons said in his paper, the Sunday News, yesterday:

If G. S. Horn were a candidate he would be named. He and T. J. Duggan have all along understood that other candidates would be named. Mr. Horn announced himself as a candidate several months ago but since then a shadow has been thrown across his path which has completely changed his course. I know Mr. Horn intimately and confidentially, and I feel grateful to Democrats for their evidences of appreciation of his services. I say what he wants and when I am nominated he knows it and appreciates it. He is not a candidate of his own choosing and for reasons that do not interest the public. One is not that he thought he would not be elected and another is not that he thought he could not be elected. One was certain and the other more than probable. During the campaign he will be in evidence advocating the nomination of the nominee of the party he loves best and which is ever ready to honor him. The withdrawal of Mr. Horn makes the nomination of Mr. Duggan certain.

With reference to the Democratic county convention which will be held one week from tomorrow Colonel Fitzsimmons says:

No bitter contests seem possible. It would not be surprising if a nomination would be made by acclamation except, probably that for jury commissioner. By common consent and general acquiescence Charles H. Schuch will head the ticket. For treasurer M. J. Kelly will unquestionably be nominated. For prothonotary Matt Norton and P. Connors (Comie White) will be named. Mr. Connors, however, has been talked of. If one of them is named then the register of wills will go elsewhere. There is no growth to one of the best in the county and calls for qualifications of a judicial character as well as ministerial. The consensus of opinion is that Squire M. W. Cummings, of Olyphant, sizes exactly up to the position. If John Durkin will not be a candidate, Mr. Park will have to be considered. The fact that the Republicans will nominate a German for clerk of the courts will be announced, if they do the person in sight seems to be Fred Warnke.

The Colonel says that if the report that John J. Durkin will not be a candidate is true, M. H. Griffin will be nominated for clerk of the courts without opposition.

Delegates were elected in the Fourth Legislative district Saturday afternoon to attend a convention which will be held in Carbondale Tuesday to elect delegates to the Republican state convention. Three delegates will be chosen. The primaries in some of the districts attracted much attention and a large vote was polled. This was particularly true in Dunmore. The convention was called to order in Burke's hall, Carbondale, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 by E. A. Jones, chairman of the district committee.

Little interest was taken Saturday afternoon in the Democratic primaries in the Third Legislative district. The delegates chosen will meet this afternoon in Coyne's hall, Minooka, to elect state delegates.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CARLYON.

Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery. The funeral of Mrs. James Carlyon took place Saturday afternoon from her home, 306 Willow street and was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Pearce, D. D., of Wilkes-Barre, who was Mr. Carlyon's pastor when in charge of Elm Park church, of this city. He paid a beautiful tribute to the quiet, beautiful and unostentatious life, which shed an influence for good on all with whom she came in contact. She was a widow of the noble Christian mother, he said, to whom home was the dearest and most sacred spot on earth. Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Van Natta, Swearingen, Thompson, Carr, Doehler and Moulton.

Mrs. Carlyon is survived by the following children: John, James, Alice, Lillie and Elizabeth and the following brothers and sisters: J. O. Williams, of Texas; J. Williams, of Harrisburg; W. H. Williams, of Newark, N. J.; Mrs. W. H. Mitchell, of Wilkes-Barre; Mrs. E. R. Dunbar, of Newark, N. J.; Mrs. William D. Bailey, of this city. She was a member of the Women's Missionary and Ladies' Aid societies of the Elm Park church, both of which sent beautiful floral remembrances.

COMBINE OF THE ELEMENTS

FLAG POLE LOWERED.

Siebeck & Watkins raised a thirty-foot flag pole over their building, on Lackawanna avenue, Saturday. They will have the trouble of re-raising it again today. It stands at an angle of 45 degrees, its bottom protruding through its foundation in the wood work of the cornice.

Two sections of the back fence and the top of a tree in the front yard of the Fairout house bore testimony to the force of the hurricane. A tree in front of city hall also lost its upper foliage.

Photographer William De Witt's show case, on Spruce street, was completely wrecked. Next door but one Barber F. J. Brauer had a swinging sign, which became loosened and plunged through the front plate glass window, punching a hole in a large campaign lithograph of George M. Watson, candidate for district attorney. A portrait of his opponent, District Attorney Jones, which hung alongside, was untouched.

A chimney was blown off Peter Ross' hotel, corner of West Lackawanna avenue and Ninth street. A tree in I. A. Finch's yard, corner of Washington and Mulberry street, was uprooted; in fact all over the city the furious wind played sad havoc with the trees and shrubbery. The tall chimney surmounting the western end of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western station came down with a crash but luckily the flying bricks found no living target.

ON MULBERRY STREET.

Mulberry street was badly washed out, particularly the block between Washington and Wyoming avenues, where work of grading is in progress. Just opposite Dr. Ganster's new house a huge boulder was uncovered in the middle of the street. The water found an opening along its edges and poured into the earth in torrents. Where it found lodgment cannot be said, but residents nearby aver that it must have been in a mine or some huge subterranean cavern, judging from the volume of water that was swallowed up. There was a very perceptible settling all about the boulder.

The decorations which had been put in place for the coming conventions were torn from the buildings in many instances and blown, no one knows where. The men who own the flags and bunting and things were about to enter the storm looking for them but had but poor success.

DAMAGE BY WATER.

The street car company experienced more than the usual storm bother. Carbon street, in the sag under the bridge, was filled with five feet of water which occasioned a three hours' delay on that line. The tunnel under the Delaware and Hudson tracks at Staak's Patch also filled up, but was pumped out quickly and a comparatively short delay only ensued. The Pittston line, however, was in bad shape, because of grounded wires and burnt out signals and as a consequence the schedule was wholly disarranged. Ten cars were burned out. Floods that filled cellars, overflowed gardens and washed gutters in the roadway were reported from all the low lying districts. Phelps street was almost suffered from the inability of the Fourth district sewer to take care of the water. The intersection of Washington avenue and Linden street had its usual temporary lake.

PRICE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT REDUCED.

Suburban Electric Light Company Lowers the Rate Per Lamp Hour. The Suburban Electric Light company gives notice that on Sept. 1 the price of incandescent lights within the city limits will be reduced to five-eighths (5/8) of a cent per lamp hour, subject to a discount of ten to twenty per cent, (according to the amount of current consumed) if bill is paid on or before the 20th of the month in which the bill is presented.
